REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

The primary reason for allowance of claims 1-3, 9-12, and 14-16 is the inclusion of the peripheral length of the image bearing member in the moving direction is an integral multiple of one dot and that each switching element corresponds to one dot of pixels of the latent image. This is found in all of claims 1-3, 9-12, and 14-16, but not disclosed nor suggested by the prior art of record.

The primary reason for allowance of claims 6 and 7 is the inclusion of optical communications means for inputting the image signal into each switching element. The optical communications means as described (35 USC 112, 6th paragraph) in the specification, page 12, lines 8-10 or equivalence thereof, comprises a light receiving unit or photodiode 25 and a light emitting unit or laser diode 23. This is found in all of claims 6 and 7, but not disclosed nor suggested by the prior art of record.

The primary reason for allowance of claim 8 is the inclusion of radio waves communications means for inputting the image signal into each switching element. This is found in all of claim 8, but not disclosed nor suggested by the prior art of record.

The primary reason for allowance of claim 13 is the inclusion of density detecting means for detecting a density of the toner image formed on the image bearing member, and a voltage applied to each switching element that is set on the basis of a detected result from the density detecting means. This is found in all claim 13, but not disclosed nor suggested by the prior art of record.

The primary reason for allowance of claims 17-20 is the inclusion of each switching element having a plurality of electrodes, wherein an image forming electrode, out of the plurality of electrodes, which forms the latent image is provided so as to protrude outward in comparison with other electrodes. This is found in all of claims 17-20, but not disclosed nor suggested by the prior art of record.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
